

BAMBERTON Dust to Bust and Back

First Time in Print July 2012

Archive records, photographs and memories shared by passionate former employees and residents tell a story that has been waiting a century to be told. Although the record of the Bamberton cement site is a nano-second in the scheme of things, its' 100 years have produced human drama with all the emotional highs and lows that make it a fascinating record of human enterprise as the new millennium unfolds.
